Global Investment Grows America's Economy

Nancy L. McLernon, President & CEO

Ms. McLernon is President & CEO of the Organization for International Investment (OFII), an association representing U.S. subsidiaries of global companies. Her advocacy efforts focus on educating legislators on the important role U.S. subsidiaries play in the American economy and policy issues that would make the U.S. a more competitive location for foreign direct investment and job creation.

McLernon's expertise on cross border investment trends and related legislative initiatives are often sought and cited by the media including, NBC News, CNBC, ABC News, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, Financial Times and Washington Post. McLernon was recently recognized by The Hill newspaper as one of Washington's top lobbyists among associations.

Prior to being named as President & CEO, Ms. McLernon was OFII's Senior Vice President, where she focused on strategic communications and advocacy. Before joining OFII, Ms. McLernon was Legislative Director for Trade Policy at Citizens for a Sound Economy.

Ms. McLernon holds a Masters in Economics from George Mason University and a B.S. in Economics from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.
