Ambassador Forum

The Political Economy of Trade

Recent months have witnessed a strong debate on international trade policy, not just in the U.S., but across much of the world. Changes stemming from Brexit, "America First" and an increasingly complex Asia-Pacific landscape call into question the very concept of globalization itself.

Growing Global 2018 will address the challenges and opportunities this presents on an ever-changing global stage with a panel of experts, all sitting ambassadors, from the region's leading trading partners.
