

Meredith Bond – Bio

Meredith Bond has spent more than 25 years working with US exporters to develop international marketing strategies, analyze market research, locate overseas business contacts and solve export process problems.

She works closely with local trade development organizations and Commercial Service colleagues worldwide to provide customized solutions for U.S. companies. Her areas of expertise include free trade agreements qualification, USMCA, international marketing, export documentation, finding & screening global sales partners, trade shows, and international methods of payment.

Meredith holds a Bachelor of Arts (BA) in International Relations and Affairs from Bucknell University, and a Master of Arts in International Affairs from American University in Washington, D.C.